A huckster named Trego, claims to have been robbed by highwaymen near Montgomery's Ferry, a few days ago. The Newport News, however thinks the man's imagination is greater than his regard for truth. There is deviltry enough practiced in that part of the county without making matters appear worse by lying.

A friend says: He stepped into a millinery shop the other day on business, and accidentally sat down on a bonnet that some one had laid on the chair. He remained there until no one was lookremained there until no one was look-ing in his direction, and then quietly got up and stepped to one side. There was a lady in at the time looking for a bon-net shaped to suit her. She finally net shaped to suit her. She finally found the one he had put in shape, and it just took her fancy; it was just what she wanted, so she said.

Accidentally Shot.—Some days ago a ten year old son of Mr. Andrew Hartman residing in Liberty Valley accidentally shot himself with a pistol injuring himself so badly as to cause death in a few days. The lad had the pistol in his pocket when it fell to the ground, causing it to discharge. Many of our readers will remember the boy as one of the members of the Hartman troupe that gave concerts in various parts of this county last fall and winter.

Unfortunate Accident.—On Wednesday evening a little son of Mr. Thos. H. Milligan of Newport fell out the second story window striking on the pavement with such force as to make him insensible, besides breaking his leg above the knee. The fracture was a very bad one, the bone pushing through the flesh. After the fracture had been adjusted the child moved so that during the night the bone again slipped from its place and had to be reset. At latest accounts the lad was getting along as well as could be expected.

A Horse that Wouldn't Die .- A few days ago Mr. George Eckert, of Centre twp., was unfortunate enough to have his best horse attacked with a sickness that promised to end in a manner disastrous to the equine quadruped. Every exertion was made to save the life and valuable services of the animal; the best medical talent was secured, but all was of no avail. The opinion was given that the horse must die, and so George said if that is so, "I will lead the animal to the woods and save the trouble of hauling him out (for a dead horse is heavy to haul." He therefore led him to a secluded spot and tied him to a tree. Next morning he thought he would go out and give the animal a decent burial, and perhaps heave a sigh and drop a tear over the grave. But we can all imagine the sad disappointment of our friend when he reached the spot where the horse had been tied, and found that the animal had eaten every green leaf and twig within reach, and was apparently anxious for more feed. Mr. E. led his horse home again and the obstinate animal is getting all right .

Accident .- A few days ago Mr. C. Bitner was driving from Strasburg to Fannettsburg in company with his mother and his daughter. When making the big turn on Strasburg Mountain, the horse took fright and commenced rearing and plunging, finally running off.— Mr. Bitner was thrown out over the dash-board, the vehicle passing over his hand crushing it badly. His mother and daughter were also thrown out, the child having her leg broken. The horse ran about two miles before he was captured. Mr. James Carbaugh took charge of the party, taking them to Fannettsburg where their injuries were attended to.—Repository.

Rather Old Fogyish .- The York True Democrat says: There is a man in Newbury township, this county, named Jacob Garretson. He is a large farmer, wealthy, and in no hurry to get his work done. He has now 10 acres of unshocked corn standing in the field in shocks from last year's yield. He intends to shock the corn next week. His wheat and oats of last year are as yet unthreshed; has still 13 acres of corn land to plow for this year, and hopes to plant in June; he has 60 barrels of prime cider on hand, owns good buildings, 50 hogs, 80 sheep with other stock, is contented and happy, and don't care whether the school keeps or the master courts the girls. It is evident that he don't expect the world to end this year, and when the angel Gabriel blows his trumpet, it will find him just getting ready to harrow.

For The Bloomfield Times. Serenaded.

Mr. Editor:-On last Tuesday evening, the Blain Band went out into the country to serenade some of the citizens. That day being the 21st anniversary of the married life of Solomon F. Bower, one of the Commissioners of the Bower, one of the Commissioners of the county, the Band gave him a serenade, after which the Band was treated to an excellent supper, served up by the Commission's wife, who is one of the best cooks in the county. Mr. Bower is one of the most successful farmers of the Upper End. He has two farms lying side by side, and under the highest state of cultivation. The Band came away well pleased with their entertainment.

HARRISBURG, May 29, 1877. Hon. J. P. Wickersham, Superintendent of Soldiers' Orphan Schools — My Dran Sin:—
Certain scaudalous rumors having been put in circulation by evil disposed and untruthful busy bodies, which are calculated to injure me and bring odlum upon my good name, I appeal to you as the proper source from which such information must come to prove the assertions information must come to prove the assertions either true or false. The report and rumor al-luded to above is to the effect that I was com-pelled to dispose of the property known as the White Hall school, and retire from the position White Hall school, and retire from the position of Superintendent on account of want of ability and misdemeanor; had I not done so the Department, over which you have the honor to preside, would have removed me or transferred the children elsewhere. Be kind enough to inform me at your earliest convenience whether or not there is any truth in the above named report, and oblige yours most respectfully.

JOHN DUM. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, May 23, 1877. John Dum-Dean Sin:—In abswer to your letter of yesterday I have to say that your sale of the property known as the White Hall school was in no way brought about by any action of this department, and the question of transferring the children from your care was never considered by us.

Yours, respectfully, J. P. WICKERSHAM Superintendent.

NEW BUFFALO, May 23rd, 1877. Mr. Editor :—On the night of the 16th inst., two masked men entered through a window on the first floor, the residence of Wm.J. McMorris in Watts township, and after devouring eatables, fonling the milk by throwing earth into it, and opening several jars of fruit, they searched every portion of the house for valuables, and finally made their way to the bedroom of the family. Finding the door locked they forced it open and pointing revolvers at occupants, demanded their money, and threatened to kill them if they made any alarm. They then compelled Mrs. M. to get up and give them the money she had, which fortunately only amounted to $10.25. They then ordered her to get into bed, and an old lady by the name of Wolf to go down stairs and lock the door after them, threatening to return and kill the whole family if any alarm was made.

Mr. M. was not at home at the time of the robbery, and no doubt this was known by the scoundrels.

It is believed the same persons stole a ham of meating the first head to the form Samuel Steal Mr. Editor :- On the night of the 16th inst.

Cumberland County.-We copy the following from the Cumberland county papers of last week:

One of the most startling crimes that has been committed in our town for many years was consummated on Saturday night. Mr. Samuel Kronenberg, better known as Cheap John, was wending his way homeward, after a very busy day, about 10.15 o'clock on the evening named, and, nearly opposite the jail, on Main street, was attacked by two men, (white,) one of whom caught him by the throat and held him while the other robbed him of his valuables. Mr. K. struggled as best he could, but a tight grip upon his throat made resistance useless. The thieves, whoever they were, succeeded in getting $360 in money, an elegant watch and the store-keys. This loss falls heavily upon Mr. K., as he is not a man of great means. The severity of the grasp upon his throat may be inferred from the fact that he was very sore yet on Monday morning.

On Saturday morning, about nine o'clock, the large barn on the farm of Jacob Sheely, situated about two miles south of Oyster's Point, was discovered to be on fire, and in a very short time after the fire was discovered, the building was a heap of ruins. Among the losses enumerated was the destruction of 400 bushels of corn, a spring wagon, reaping machine, and a number of other farming implements. Live stock all saved. "Loss not known.—Mirror.
